SELECTED AMERICAN SHARES

Investment Objective

Selected American Shares' investment objective is to achieve both capital growth and income. In the current market environment, income is expected to be low.

Fees and Expenses of Selected American Shares

This table describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of Selected American Shares.

Shareholder Fees

(fees paid directly from your investment)

	Class S shares	Class D shares
Maximum sales charge (load) imposed on purchases (as a percentage of offering price)	None	None
Maximum deferred sales charge (load) imposed on redemptions (as a percentage of the lesser of the net asset value of the shares redeemed or the total cost of such shares.)	None	None
Maximum sales charge (load) imposed on reinvested dividends	None	None

Annual Fund Operating Expenses

(expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment)

	Class S shares	Class D shares
Management Fees ⁽¹⁾	0.54%	0.54%
Distribution and/or service (12b-1) Fees	0.25%	0.00%
Other Expenses	0.15%	0.07%
Total Annual Operating Expenses	0.94%	0.61%

Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

This Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in Selected American Shares for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. This Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and the fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions, your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class S shares	$96	$300	$520	$1,155
Class D shares	$62	$195	$340	$762

Portfolio Turnover

Selected American Shares pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 11% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Davis Selected Advisers, L.P., (“Davis Advisors” or the “Adviser”) the fund’s investment adviser, uses the Davis Investment Discipline to invest at least 80% of Selected American Shares’ net assets, plus any borrowing for investment purposes, in a diversified portfolio of common stock issued by American companies with market capitalizations of at least $10 billion. While the fund invests primarily in U.S. companies, it may also invest in foreign companies.

Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors manages equity funds using the Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors conducts extensive research to try to identify businesses that possess characteristics that Davis Advisors believes foster the creation of long-term value, such as proven management, a durable franchise and business model, and sustainable competitive advantages. Davis Advisors aims to invest in such businesses when they are trading at discounts to their intrinsic worth. Davis Advisors emphasizes individual stock selection and believes that the ability to evaluate management is critical. Davis Advisors routinely visits managers at their places of business in order to gain insight into the relative value of different businesses. Such research, however rigorous, involves predictions and forecasts that are inherently uncertain. After determining which companies Davis Advisors believes the fund should own, Davis Advisors then turns its analysis to determining the intrinsic value of those companies’ equity securities. Davis Advisors seeks equity securities which can be purchased at attractive valuations relative to their intrinsic value. Davis Advisors’ goal is to invest in companies for the long term. Davis Advisors considers selling a company’s equity securities if the securities’ market price exceeds Davis Advisors’ estimates of intrinsic value, or if the ratio of the risks and rewards of continuing to own the company’s equity securities is no longer attractive.

Principal Risks of Investing in Selected American Shares

Investors in Selected American Shares should have a long-term perspective and be able to tolerate potentially sharp declines in value. The principal risks of investing in the fund are:

Market risk: The market value of shares of common stock can change rapidly and unpredictably and have the potential for loss.

Company risk: Common stock represents ownership positions in companies. Over time, the market value of a common stock should reflect the success or failure of the company issuing the stock.

Financial Services risk: Investing a significant portion of assets in the financial services sector may cause the fund to be more sensitive to problems affecting financial companies.

Foreign Country risk: Foreign companies may be subject to greater risk as foreign economies may not be as strong or diversified, foreign political systems may not be as stable, and foreign financial reporting standards may not be as rigorous as they are in the United States.

Headline risk: The fund may make such investments when a company becomes the center of controversy after receiving adverse media attention. While Davis Advisors researches companies subject to such contingencies, they cannot be correct every time, and the company’s stock may never recover.

Fees and Expenses risk: All mutual funds incur operating fees and expenses. Fees and expenses reduce the return which a shareholder may earn by investing in a fund. A low return environment, or a bear market, increases the risk that a shareholder may lose money.

Your investment in the fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency, entity or person.

Performance Results

The bar chart below provides some indication of the risks of investing in the Selected American Shares by showing how the fund's investment results have varied from year to year. The following table shows how the fund's average annual total returns for various periods compare with those of the S&P 500[®] Index. The fund's past performance (before and after taxes) is not necessarily an indication of how the fund will perform in the future. Updated information on the fund's results can be obtained by visiting www.selectedfunds.com or by calling 1-800-243-1575.

After-tax returns are shown only for Class S shares; after-tax returns for Class D shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their fund shares through a tax-deferred arrangement, such as a 401(k) plan or individual retirement accounts.

Tax Information

Distributions may be taxed as ordinary income or capital gains by federal, state and local authorities.

Payments to Broker-Dealers and Other Financial Intermediaries

If you purchase Selected American Shares through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary (such as a bank), the fund and its related companies may pay the intermediary for the sale of fund shares and related services. These payments may create a conflict of interest by influencing the broker-dealer or other intermediary and your salesperson to recommend the fund over another investment. Ask your salesperson or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.

Portfolio Turnover

Selected Special Shares pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 24% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Davis Selected Advisers, L.P., (“Davis Advisors” or the “Adviser”) the fund’s investment adviser, uses the Davis Investment Discipline to invest Selected Special Shares’ assets in a diversified portfolio of common stock issued by companies across the spectrum of market capitalizations. While the fund invests primarily in U.S. companies, it may also invest in foreign companies.

Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors manages equity funds using the Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors conducts extensive research to try to identify businesses that possess characteristics that Davis Advisors believes foster the creation of long-term value, such as proven management, a durable franchise and business model, and sustainable competitive advantages. Davis Advisors aims to invest in such businesses when they are trading at discounts to their intrinsic worth. Davis Advisors emphasizes individual stock selection and believes that the ability to evaluate management is critical. Davis Advisors routinely visits managers at their places of business in order to gain insight into the relative value of different businesses. Such research, however rigorous, involves predictions and forecasts that are inherently uncertain. After determining which companies Davis Advisors believes the fund should own, Davis Advisors then turns its analysis to determining the intrinsic value of those companies’ equity securities. Davis Advisors seeks equity securities which can be purchased at attractive valuations relative to their intrinsic value. Davis Advisors’ goal is to invest in companies for the long term. Davis Advisors considers selling a company’s equity securities if the securities’ market price exceeds Davis Advisors’ estimates of intrinsic value, or if the ratio of the risks and rewards of continuing to own the company’s equity securities is no longer attractive.

Principal Risks of Investing in Selected Special Shares

Investors in Selected Special Shares should have a long-term perspective and be able to tolerate potentially sharp declines in value. The principal risks of investing in the fund are:

Market risk: The market value of shares of common stock can change rapidly and unpredictably and have the potential for loss.

Company risk: Common stock represents ownership positions in companies. Over time, the market value of a common stock should reflect the success or failure of the company issuing the stock.

Under $10 Billion Market Capitalization risk: Small- and mid-size companies typically have more limited product lines, markets and financial resources than larger companies, and their securities may trade less frequently and in more limited volume than those of larger, more mature companies.

Foreign Country risk: Foreign companies may be subject to greater risk as foreign economies may not be as strong or diversified, foreign political systems may not be as stable, and foreign financial reporting standards may not be as rigorous as they are in the United States.

Headline risk: The fund may make such investments when a company becomes the center of controversy after receiving adverse media attention. While Davis Advisors researches companies subject to such contingencies, they cannot be correct every time, and the company’s stock may never recover.

Fees and Expenses risk: All mutual funds incur operating fees and expenses. Fees and expenses reduce the return which a shareholder may earn by investing in a fund. A low return environment, or a bear market, increases the risk that a shareholder may lose money.

Your investment in the fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency, entity or person.

Performance Results

After that date, there is no assurance that the Adviser will continue to cap expenses. The expense cap cannot be terminated prior to May 1, 2011, without the consent of the board of directors.

Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

This Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in Selected Daily Government Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. This Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and the fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions, your costs would be:

Class S shares	$139	$434	$750	$1,646
Class D shares	$68	$214	$373	$835

Principal Investment Strategies

The fund is a money market fund that seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share. There can be no guarantee that the fund will be successful in maintaining a $1.00 share price.

Selected Daily Government Fund invests exclusively in U.S. Treasury securities, U.S. Government agency securities, U.S. Government agency mortgage securities (collectively “U.S. Government Securities”), and repurchase agreements collateralized by U.S. Government Securities. The fund seeks to maintain liquidity and preserve capital by carefully monitoring the maturity of its investments. The fund’s portfolio maintains a dollar-weighted average maturity of sixty days or less.

Principal Risks of Investing in Selected Daily Government Fund

The principal risks of investing in the fund are:

Variable Current Income: The income which the fund pays to investors is not stable.

Interest Rate Sensitivity: If a security pays a fixed interest rate, and market rates increase, the value of the fixed-rate security generally declines.

Fees and Expenses risk: All mutual funds incur operating fees and expenses. Fees and expenses reduce the return which a shareholder may earn by investing in a fund. A low return environment, or a bear market, increases the risk that a shareholder may lose money.

Your investment in the fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency, entity or person. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the fund.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, PRINCIPAL STRATEGIES, AND PRINCIPAL RISKS

Investment Objectives

Selected American Shares

The investment objective of Selected American Shares is to achieve both capital growth and income. In the current market environment, income is expected to be low.

Selected Special Shares

The investment objective of Selected Special Shares is capital growth.

Selected Daily Government Fund

Selected Daily Government Fund's investment objective is to provide as high a level of current income as possible from the type of short-term investments in which it invests.

The funds' investment objectives are fundamental policies and may not be changed without a vote of shareholders.

The Davis Investment Discipline

Davis Advisors manages equity funds using the Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors conducts extensive research to try to identify businesses that possess characteristics which Davis Advisors believes foster the creation of long-term value, such as proven management, a durable franchise and business model, and sustainable competitive advantages. Davis Advisors aims to invest in such businesses when they are trading at discounts to their intrinsic worth. Davis Advisors emphasizes individual stock selection and believes that the ability to evaluate management is critical. Davis Advisors routinely visits managers at their places of business in order to gain insight into the relative value of different businesses. Such research, however rigorous, involves predictions and forecasts that are inherently uncertain.

Over the years, Davis Advisors has developed a list of characteristics that it believes help companies to create shareholder value over the long term and manage risk. While few companies possess all of these characteristics at any given time, Davis Advisors searches for companies that demonstrate a majority or an appropriate mix of these characteristics.

First Class Management

- Proven Track Record
- Significant Alignment of Interests in Business
- Intelligent Application of Capital

Strong Financial Condition and Satisfactory Profitability

- Strong Balance Sheet
- Low Cost Structure
- High Returns on Capital

Strong Competitive Positioning

- Non-Obsolescent Products/Services
- Dominant or Growing Market Share
- Global Presence and Brand Names

After determining which companies Davis Advisors believes that a fund should own, it then turns its analysis to determining the intrinsic value of those companies' equity securities. Davis Advisors seeks equity securities which can be purchased at attractive valuations relative to their intrinsic value. Davis Advisors' goal is to invest in companies for the long term. Davis Advisors considers selling a company's equity securities if the securities' market price exceeds Davis Advisors' estimates of intrinsic value, or if the ratio of the risks and rewards of continuing to own the company's equity securities is no longer attractive.

Common Stock. Common stock represents ownership positions in companies. The prices of common stock fluctuate based on changes in the financial condition of their issuers and on market and economic conditions. Events that have a negative impact on a business probably will be reflected in a decline in the price of its common stock. Furthermore, when the total value of the stock market declines, most common stock, even those issued by strong companies, likely will decline in value.

Foreign Companies. Foreign companies may issue both equity and fixed income securities. Sometimes a company may be classified as either "domestic" or "foreign" depending upon which factors the Adviser considers most important for a given company. Factors which the Adviser considers in classifying a company as domestic or foreign include: (1) whether the company is organized under the laws of the United States or a foreign country; (2) whether the company's securities principally trade in securities markets outside of the United States; (3) the source of the majority of the company's revenues or profits; and (4) the location of the majority of the company's assets. The Adviser generally follows the country classification indicated by a third party service provider but may use a different country classification if the Adviser's analysis of the four factors indicates that a different country classification is more appropriate.

When the funds invest in foreign securities, its operating expenses are likely to be higher than those of an investment company investing exclusively in U.S. securities, since the custodial and certain other expenses associated with foreign investments are expected to be higher.

Investments in foreign securities may be made through the purchase of individual securities on recognized exchanges and developed over-the-counter markets, through Depositary Receipts (such types may include but are not limited to American Depositary Receipts "ADRs", Global Depositary Receipts "GDRs" or European Depositary Receipts "EDRs") covering such securities, and through U.S.-registered investment companies investing primarily in foreign securities.

Rather than investing directly in equity securities issued by foreign companies, the fund may invest in these companies through depositary receipts. ADRs are receipts typically issued by an American bank or trust company which evidence ownership of underlying securities issued by a foreign corporation. GDRs are receipts that are generally issued by a foreign branch of an international bank which evidence a similar ownership arrangement. Generally, ADRs, which are issued in registered form, are designated for use in the United States securities markets, and GDRs are typically sold under exemptions from U.S. registration. The funds may invest in both sponsored and unsponsored arrangements. In a sponsored arrangement, the foreign issuer assumes the obligation to pay some or all of the depository's transaction fees, whereas in an unsponsored arrangement the foreign issuer assumes no obligations and the depository's transaction fees are paid by the holders. Foreign issuers in respect of whose securities unsponsored depository receipts have been issued are not necessarily obligated to disclose material information in the markets in which the unsponsored depository receipts are traded and, therefore, there may not be a correlation between such information and the market value of such securities.

American Companies. Under normal circumstances, Selected American Shares' invests at least 80% of its net assets, plus any borrowing for investment purposes, in common stock issued by American companies with market capitalizations of at least $10 billion. American companies are those which the Adviser determines, using the criteria listed above under "foreign companies", are principally located in North and/or South America. Under normal circumstances Selected American Shares will invest the majority of its assets in U.S. companies.

Under $10 Billion Market Capitalizations. Companies with less than $10 billion in market capitalization are considered by the Adviser to be mid- or small-capitalization companies. Investing in mid- and small-capitalization companies may be more risky than investing in large-capitalization companies. Smaller companies typically have more limited product lines, markets and financial resources than larger companies, and their securities may trade less frequently and in more limited volume than those of larger, more mature companies. Securities of these companies may be subject to volatility in their prices. They may have a limited trading market, which may adversely affect a fund's ability to dispose of them and can reduce the price a fund might be able to obtain for them. Other investors that own a security issued by a mid- or small-capitalization company for whom there is limited liquidity might trade the security when a fund is attempting to dispose of its holdings in that security. In that case, a fund might receive a lower price for its holdings than otherwise might be obtained. Small-capitalization companies also may be unseasoned. These include companies that have been in operation for less than three years, including the operations of any predecessors.

U.S. Government Securities. U.S. Government securities are debt securities that are obligations of or guaranteed by the U.S. Government, its agencies or instrumentalities. There are two basic types of U.S. Government securities: (1) direct obligations of the U.S. Treasury; and (2) obligations issued or guaranteed by an agency or instrumentality of the U.S. Government, which include the Federal Farm Credit System ("FFCS"), Student Loan Marketing Association ("SLMA"), Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("FHLMC"), Federal Home Loan Banks ("FHLB"), Federal National Mortgage Association ("FNMA") and Government National Mortgage Association ("GNMA"). Some obligations issued or guaranteed by agencies or instrumentalities, such as those issued by GNMA, are fully guaranteed by the U.S. Government. Others, such as FNMA bonds, rely on the assets and credit of the instrumentality with limited rights to borrow from the U.S. Treasury. Still other securities, such as obligations of the FHLB, are supported by more extensive rights to borrow from the U.S. Treasury.

U.S. Government securities include mortgage-related securities issued by an agency or instrumentality of the U.S. Government. GNMA certificates are mortgage-backed securities representing part ownership of a pool of mortgage loans. These loans issued by lenders such as mortgage bankers, commercial banks and savings and loan associations are either insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration. A “pool” or group of such mortgages is assembled and, after being approved by GNMA, is offered to investors through securities dealers. Once approved by GNMA, the timely payment of interest and principal on each mortgage is guaranteed by GNMA and backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. GNMA certificates differ from bonds in that principal is paid back monthly by the borrower over the term of the loan rather than returned in a lump sum at maturity. GNMA certificates are characterized as “pass-through” securities because both interest and principal payments (including prepayments) are passed through to the holder of such certificates.

As of September 7, 2008, the Federal Housing Finance Agency (“FHFA”) has been appointed as the conservator of FHLMC and FNMA for an indefinite period. In accordance with the Federal Housing Finance Regulatory Reform Act of 2008 and the Federal Housing Enterprises Financial Safety and Soundness Act of 1992, as conservator, the FHFA will control and oversee these entities until the FHFA deems them financially sound and solvent. During the Conservatorship, each entity’s obligations are expected to be paid in the normal course of business. Although no express guarantee exists for the debt or mortgage-backed securities issued by these entities, the U.S. Department of the Treasury, through a securities lending credit facility and a senior preferred stock purchase agreement, has attempted to enhance the ability of the entities to meet their obligations.

The guarantees of the U.S. Government, its agencies and instrumentalities are guarantees of the timely payment of principal and interest on the obligations purchased. The value of the shares issued by the Fund is not guaranteed and will fluctuate with the value of the Fund’s portfolio. Generally, when the level of interest rates rise, the value of the Fund’s investment in U.S. Government securities is likely to decline and, when the level of interest rates decline, the value of the Fund’s investment in U.S. Government securities is likely to rise.

The Fund may engage in portfolio trading primarily to take advantage of yield disparities. Such trading strategies may result in minor temporary increases or decreases in the Fund’s current income and in its holding of debt securities that sell at substantial premiums or discounts from face value. If expectations of changes in interest rates or the price of the securities prove to be incorrect, the Fund’s potential income and capital gain will be reduced or its potential loss will be increased.

Government securities, like other debt securities, generally, are interest rate sensitive. During periods of falling interest rates, the values of debt securities held by the Fund generally rise. Conversely, during periods of rising interest rates, the values of such securities generally decline. Changes by recognized rating services in their ratings of debt securities and changes in the ability of an issuer to make payments of interest and principal also will affect the value of these investments.

Average Maturities. Selected Daily Government Fund limits the average maturity of its investment portfolio to 60 days or less. Selected Daily Government Fund seeks to maintain a weighted average maturity of three years or less. The Adviser may adjust the average maturity of Selected Daily Government Fund’s portfolio from time to time, depending on the Adviser’s assessment of the relative yields available on securities of different maturities, and its assessment of future interest rate patterns and market risk. Thus, at various times, the average maturity of the portfolio may be relatively short (as short as one day), and at other times may be relatively long (up to 60 days). Selected Daily Government Fund strives to maintain a constant net asset value per share of $1. There is no guarantee that the Fund will be successful.

Repurchase Agreements. The Fund may enter into repurchase agreements. A repurchase agreement is an agreement to purchase a security and to sell that security back to the original owner at an agreed-on price. The resale price reflects the purchase price plus an agreed-on incremental amount which is unrelated to the coupon rate or maturity of the purchased security. The repurchase obligation of the seller is, in effect, secured by the underlying securities. In the event of a bankruptcy or other default of a seller of a repurchase agreement, the Fund could experience both delays in liquidating the underlying securities and losses, including: (a) possible decline in the value of the collateral during the period while the Fund seeks to enforce its rights thereto; (b) possible loss of all or a part of the income during this period; and (c) expenses of enforcing its rights.

The Fund will enter into repurchase agreements only when the seller agrees that the value of the underlying securities, including accrued interest (if any), will at all times be equal to or exceed the value of the repurchase agreement. The Fund may enter into tri-party repurchase agreements in which a third-party custodian bank ensures the timely and accurate exchange of cash and collateral. The majority of these transactions run from day to day, and delivery pursuant to the resale typically occurs within one to seven days of the purchase. The Fund normally will not enter into repurchase agreements maturing in more than seven days.

Principal Risks

If you buy shares of a fund you may lose some or all of the money that you invest. The investment return and principal value of an investment in Selected American Shares or Selected Special Shares will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The likelihood of loss may be greater if you invest for a shorter period of time. This section describes the principal risks (but not the only risks) that could cause the value of your investment in the fund to decline, and which could prevent the fund from achieving its stated investment objective.

Equity Risks

Market risk. The market value of shares of equity securities can change rapidly and unpredictably as a result of political or economic events having little or nothing to do with the performance of the companies in which a fund invests.

Company risk. Common stock is a form of equity security which represents ownership positions in companies. The prices of most equity securities fluctuate based on changes in the financial condition of their issuers and on market and economic conditions. Events that have a negative impact on a business probably will be reflected in a decline in the price of its equity securities. Furthermore, when the total value of the stock market declines, most equity securities, even those issued by strong companies, will likely decline in value. There is also the inherent risk that holders of common stock generally are behind creditors and holders of preferred stock for payments in the event of the bankruptcy of a stock issuer.

Under $10 Billion Market Capitalization. Investing in small- and medium-capitalization companies with market capitalizations of under $10 billion may be more risky than investing in large-capitalization companies. Small and mid-size companies typically have more limited product lines, markets and financial resources than larger companies, and their securities may trade less frequently and in more limited volume than those of larger, more mature companies. Securities of these companies may be subject to greater volatility in their prices than the securities of larger capitalization companies. They may have a limited trading market, which may adversely affect the Fund's ability to dispose of them and can reduce the price the Fund might be able to obtain for them. Other investors that own a security issued by a mid- or small-capitalization company for whom there is limited liquidity might trade the security when the Fund is attempting to dispose of its holdings in that security. In that case, the Fund might receive a lower price for its holdings than otherwise might be obtained. Small-capitalization companies also may be unseasoned. These include companies that have been in operation for less than three years, including the operations of any predecessors.

Foreign country risk. The funds may invest a significant portion of their assets in companies operating, incorporated, or principally traded in foreign countries. Investing in foreign countries involves risks that may cause the funds' performance to be more volatile than it would be if the funds invested primarily in the United States. Foreign economies may not be as strong or as diversified, foreign political systems may not be as stable, and foreign financial reporting standards may not be as rigorous as they are in the United States. In addition, foreign capital markets may not be as well developed, so securities may be less liquid, transaction costs may be higher, and investments may be subject to more government regulation.

Rather than investing directly in equity securities issued by foreign companies, the funds may invest in these companies through American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs") or Global Depositary Receipts ("GDRs") covering such securities. ADRs and GDRs, are U.S. dollar-denominated and represent the deposit with U.S. banks of the securities of foreign issuers and are publicly traded on exchanges or are traded over-the-counter in the United States. Similar to direct investments in foreign securities ADRs and GDRs are subject to the risks of changes in currency or exchange rates and the economic or political trends in foreign countries. In addition, ADRs and GDRs may be subjected to losses if the U.S. banks issuing the ADRs or GDRs fail to support the ADRs and GDRs which they issue.

Concentrated portfolio risk. The fund invests principally in a single market sector, and any fund that has a concentrated portfolio is particularly vulnerable to the risks of its target sector.

Financial services risk. Risks of investing in the financial services sector include: (i) Regulatory actions: financial services companies may suffer setbacks if regulators change the rules under which they operate; (ii) Changes in interest rates: unstable and/or rising interest rates may have a disproportionate effect on companies in the financial services sector; (iii) Non-diversified loan portfolios: financial services companies whose securities the fund purchases may themselves have concentrated portfolios, such as a high level of loans to real estate developers, which makes them vulnerable to economic conditions that affect that industry; (iv) Credit: financial services companies may have exposure to investments or agreements which under certain circumstances may lead to losses, for example sub-prime loans; and (v) Competition: the financial services sector has become increasingly competitive.

Banking. Commercial banks (including “money center” regional and community banks), savings and loan associations and holding companies of the foregoing are especially subject to adverse effects of volatile interest rates, concentrations of loans in particular industries or classifications (such as real estate, energy, or sub-prime mortgages), and significant competition. The profitability of these businesses is to a significant degree dependent on the availability and cost of capital funds. Economic conditions in the real estate market may have a particularly strong effect on certain banks and savings associations. Commercial banks and savings associations are subject to extensive federal and, in many instances, state regulation. Neither such extensive regulation nor the federal insurance of deposits ensures the solvency or profitability of companies in this industry, and there is no assurance against losses in securities issued by such companies.

Insurance. Insurance companies are particularly subject to government regulation and rate setting, potential anti-trust and tax law changes, and industry-wide pricing and competition cycles. Property and casualty insurance companies also may be affected by weather, terrorism, long-term climate changes, and other catastrophes. Life and health insurance companies may be affected by mortality and morbidity rates, including the effects of epidemics. Individual insurance companies may be exposed to reserve inadequacies, problems in investment portfolios (for example, due to real estate or “junk” bond holdings) and failures of reinsurance carriers.

Other Financial Services Companies. Many of the investment considerations discussed in connection with banks and insurance companies also apply to other financial services companies. These companies are all subject to extensive regulation, rapid business changes, and volatile performance dependent on the availability and cost of capital and prevailing interest rates and significant competition. General economic conditions significantly affect these companies. Credit and other losses resulting from the financial difficulty of borrowers or other third parties have a potentially adverse effect on companies in this industry. Investment banking, securities brokerage and investment advisory companies are particularly subject to government regulation and the risks inherent in securities trading and underwriting activities.

Other Regulatory Limitations. Regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) impose limits on: (1) investments in the securities of companies that derive more than 15% of their gross revenues from the securities or investment management business (although there are exceptions, the Fund is prohibited from investing more than 5% of its total assets in a single company that derives more than 15% of its gross revenues from the securities or investment management business); and (2) investments in insurance companies. The Fund generally is prohibited from owning more than 10% of the outstanding voting securities of an insurance company.

Real estate portfolio risk. Real estate securities are susceptible to the many risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate, including: (i) declines in property values, because of changes in the economy or the surrounding area or because a particular region has become less appealing to tenants; (ii) increases in property taxes, operating expenses, interest rates or competition; (iii) overbuilding; (iv) changes in zoning laws; or (v) losses from casualty or condemnation.

Focused portfolio risk. Funds that invest in a limited number of companies may have more risk because changes in the value of a single security may have a more significant effect, either negative or positive, on the value of the fund’s total portfolio.

A fund may be classified as a “non-diversified” fund under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “1940 Act”), which means that it is permitted to invest its assets in a more limited number of issuers than “diversified” investment companies. A diversified investment company may not, with respect to 75% of its total assets, invest more than 5% of its total assets in the securities of any one issuer (other than U.S. Government securities and securities of other investment companies) and may not own more than 10% of the outstanding voting securities of any one issuer. While a fund may be a non-diversified investment company, and therefore is not subject to the statutory diversification requirements discussed above, the fund may still intend to diversify its assets to the extent necessary to qualify for tax treatment as a regulated investment company under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Internal Revenue Code”).

At any given point in time, a diversified fund may not meet the diversification test outlined above due to appreciation in its portfolio holdings. In such case, the fund is not required to sell portfolio holdings to meet the diversification test.

The diversification standards under the Internal Revenue Code require that a fund diversify its holdings so that, at the end of each fiscal quarter, (a) at least 50% of the market value of a fund’s assets is represented by cash, U.S. Government securities, securities of other regulated investment companies and other securities limited with respect to any one issuer to an amount not greater than 5% of a fund’s assets and 10% of the outstanding voting securities of such issuer, and (b) not more than 25% of the value of a fund’s assets is invested in the securities of any one issuer (other than U.S. Government securities and the securities of other regulated investment companies), or of two or more issuers which a fund controls (i.e., owns, directly or indirectly, 20% of the voting stock) and which are determined to be engaged in the same or similar trades or businesses or related trades or businesses.

Headline risk. Davis Advisors seeks to acquire companies with durable business models that can be purchased at attractive valuations relative to what Davis Advisors believes to be the companies’ intrinsic values. Davis Advisors may make such investments when a company becomes the center of controversy after receiving adverse media attention. The company may be involved in litigation, the company’s financial reports or corporate governance may be challenged, the company’s public filings may disclose a weakness in internal controls, greater government regulation may be contemplated, or other adverse events may threaten the company’s future. While Davis Advisors researches companies subject to such contingencies, Davis Advisors cannot be correct every time, and the company’s stock may never recover or may become worthless.

Debt Risks

Interest rate sensitivity. If a security pays a fixed interest rate, and market rates increase, the value of the fixed-rate security should decline.

Extension and prepayment risk. Market prices of the mortgage-backed securities and collateralized mortgage obligations that the fund owns are affected by how quickly borrowers elect to prepay the mortgages underlying the securities. Changes in market interest rates affect borrowers’ decisions about whether to prepay their mortgages. Rising interest rates lead to extension risk, which occurs when borrowers maintain their existing mortgages until they come due instead of choosing to prepay them. Falling interest rates lead to prepayment risk, which occurs when borrowers prepay their mortgages more quickly than usual so that they can refinance at a lower rate. A government agency that has the right to call (prepay) a fixed-rate security may respond the same way. The pace at which borrowers prepay affects the yield and the cash flow to holders of securities and the market value of those securities.

Changes in debt rating. If a rating agency gives a fixed income security a low rating, the value of the security will decline because investors will demand a higher rate of return.

Credit risk. Like any borrower, the issuer of a fixed income security may be unable to make timely payments of interest and principal. If the issuer is unable to make payments in a timely fashion the value of the security will decline and may become worthless. Even U.S. Government Securities are subject to credit risk.

Davis Government Bond Fund and Davis Government Money Market Fund seek to manage credit risk by investing exclusively, under normal circumstances, in U.S. Government Securities and repurchase agreements collateralized by U.S. Government Securities. Many of the agency-issued securities in the Fund's portfolio (as opposed to the Treasury-issued securities) are not guaranteed by the U.S. Government and in unusual circumstances may present credit risk. Although an issuer may be chartered or sponsored by Acts of Congress, their securities are neither issued nor guaranteed by the United States Treasury. These include direct obligations and mortgage-related securities that have different levels of credit support from the U.S. Government. Some are supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government, such as Government National Mortgage Association ("Ginnie Mae") pass-through mortgage certificates. Some are supported by the right of the issuer to borrow from the U.S. Treasury under certain circumstances, such as Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae") bonds. Others are supported only by the credit of the entity that issued them, such as Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac") obligations. There is always some risk, even for U.S. Government Securities that the issuer of a security held by the Fund will fail to make a payment when it is due.

Variable current income. The income which the fund pays to investors is not stable. When interest rates increase, the Fund's income distributions are likely to increase. When interest rates decrease, the Fund's income distributions are likely to decrease.

High-Yield, High-Risk Debt Securities

There are several agencies that evaluate and rate debt securities. Two of the most prominent are Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investors Service.

When evaluating the quality of a debt instrument, rating agencies look at factors like the issuer's current financial condition and business prospects, the value of any collateral that secures the debt and the issuer's history of paying other debt. Each agency has its own system for grading debt. Standard & Poor's has 11 ratings, ranging from "D" for securities that are in default to "AAA" for securities that are almost certain to be repaid. Moody's Investors Service has nine ratings, with "C" being the lowest and "Aaa" being the highest.

A debt security is called investment-grade if a respected agency assigns it a favorable credit rating ("BBB" or higher by Standard and Poor's, or "Baa" or higher by Moody's). In contrast, a debt security is considered high-yield, high-risk if it is rated "BB" or lower by Standard and Poor's or "Ba" or lower by Moody's Investors Service. Securities with these low ratings are also referred to as junk bonds. Many institutional investors, such as pension plans and municipal governments, are only permitted to buy investment-grade debt. The Fund may invest in investment grade, high-yield, high-risk debt securities, and unrated debt securities.

Overburdened issuers. Many issuers only resort to offering high-yield, high-risk debt securities when they cannot get financing from more traditional sources, such as banks. These issuers are unlikely to have a cushion from which to make their payments when their earnings are poor or when the economy in general is in decline.

Priority. Issuers of high-yield, high-risk debt securities are likely to have a substantial amount of other debt. Most, if not all, of this other debt will be senior to the high-yield, high-risk debt securities; an issuer must be current on its senior obligations before it can pay bondholders. In addition, some of the other debt may be secured by the issuer's primary operating assets. If the issuer defaults on those obligations, the lenders may seize their collateral—possibly forcing the issuer out of business and into bankruptcy.

Difficult to resell. Many investors simply do not want high-yield, high-risk debt securities, and others are prohibited from buying them.

Other Risks

Fees and Expenses risk. All mutual funds incur operating fees and expenses. Fees and expenses reduce the return which a shareholder may earn by investing in a fund. A low return environment, or a bear market, increases the risk that a shareholder may lose money.

The Funds' shares are not deposits or obligations of any bank, are not guaranteed by any bank, are not insured by the FDIC or any other agency, and involve investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amount invested.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT PERFORMANCE

Class D shares were first offered to the public on May 3, 2004. The return presented for the life of the class is measured from that date.

NON-PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Selected Funds may implement investment strategies which are not principal investment strategies if, in the Adviser's professional judgment, the strategies are appropriate. Non-principal investment strategies are generally those investments which constitute less than 20% of the fund's assets.

While the Adviser expects to pursue the fund's investment objective by implementing the principal investment strategies described in the fund's prospectus, the Adviser may pursue different investment strategies or make other investments for the fund if it determines that doing so: (i) is likely to be consistent with shareholders' reasonable expectations; (ii) is likely to assist the Adviser in pursuing the fund's investment objective; (iii) will not cause the fund to violate any of its fundamental or non-fundamental investment restrictions; and (iv) will not materially change the fund's risk profile from the risk profile that results from following the principal investment strategies as described in the fund's prospectus and further explained in the Statement of Additional Information, as amended from time to time.

Short-Term Investments. The funds (other than Selected Daily Government Fund) use short-term investments, such as treasury bills and repurchase agreements, to maintain flexibility while evaluating long-term opportunities.

Temporary Defensive Investments. The funds (other than Selected Daily Government Fund) may, but are not required, to use short-term investments for temporary defensive purposes. In the event that Davis Advisors' Portfolio Managers anticipate a decline in the market values of the companies in which a fund invests (due to economic, political or other factors), a fund may reduce its risk by investing in short-term securities until market conditions improve. While the fund is invested in short-term investments it will not be pursuing the long-term growth of capital portion of its investment objective, although it will be pursuing the capital preservation portion of its investment objective.

Unlike equity securities, these investments will not appreciate in value when the market advances and will not contribute to long-term growth of capital.

For more details concerning current investments and market outlook, please see the fund's most recent shareholder report.

Portfolio Holdings

A description of the Selected Funds' policies and procedures with respect to the disclosure of the funds' portfolio holdings is available in the Statement of Additional Information.

Selected Funds' portfolio holdings are published twice a year in the Annual and Semi-Annual Reports which are mailed approximately 60 days after the end of the fund's second and fourth fiscal quarters. In addition, each fund publishes its portfolio holdings on the Selected Funds' website (www.selectedfunds.com) and the SEC website (www.sec.gov) approximately 60 days after the end of each fiscal quarter. Other information concerning the funds' portfolio holdings may also be published on the Selected Funds' website from time to time.

MANAGEMENT AND ORGANIZATION

Davis Selected Advisers, L.P. ("Davis Advisors") serves as the investment adviser for each of the Selected Funds. Davis Advisors' offices are located at 2949 East Elvira Road, Suite 101, Tucson, Arizona 85756. Davis Advisors provides investment advice for the Selected Funds, manages their business affairs, and provides day-to-day administrative services. Davis Advisors also serves as investment adviser for other mutual funds and institutional and individual clients. For the fiscal year ended December 31, 2009, Davis Advisors' net management fee paid by the Funds for its services (based on average net assets) was 0.54% for Selected American Shares; and 0.61% for Selected Special Shares; and 0.17% for Selected Daily Government Fund. A discussion regarding the basis for the approval of the funds' investment advisory and service agreement by the funds' Board of Directors is contained in the funds' most recent Semi-Annual Report to shareholders.

Davis Selected Advisers–NY, Inc., serves as the sub-adviser for each of the Selected Funds. Davis Selected Advisers–NY, Inc.'s offices are located at 609 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10017. Davis Selected Advisers–NY, Inc., provides investment management and research services for the Selected Funds and other institutional clients, and is a wholly owned subsidiary of Davis Advisors. Davis Selected Advisers–NY, Inc.'s fee is paid by Davis Advisors, not the Selected Funds.

Execution of Portfolio Transactions. Davis Advisors places orders with broker-dealers for the Selected Funds' portfolio transactions. Davis Advisors seeks to place portfolio transactions with brokers or dealers who will execute transactions as efficiently as possible and at the most favorable net price. In placing executions and paying brokerage commissions or dealer markups, Davis Advisors considers price, commission, timing, competent block trading coverage, capital strength and stability, research resources, and other factors. Subject to best price and execution, Davis Advisors may place orders for Selected Funds' portfolio transactions with broker-dealers who have sold shares of Selected Funds. However, when Davis Advisors places orders for Selected Funds' portfolio transactions, it does not give any consideration to whether a broker-dealer has sold shares of Selected Funds. In placing orders for Selected Funds' portfolio transactions, the Adviser does not commit to any specific amount of business with any particular broker-dealer.

Over the last three years the Selected Funds paid the following brokerage commissions:

Portfolio Managers

Selected American Shares

- Christopher Davis has served as a Portfolio Manager of Selected American Shares since December 1994, and also manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors. Mr. Davis has served as an analyst and portfolio manager for Davis Advisors since 1989.
- Kenneth Feinberg has served as a Portfolio Manager of Selected American Shares since May 1998, and also manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors. Mr. Feinberg has served as an analyst and portfolio manager for Davis Advisors since 1994.

Selected Special Shares

Investment Team. Davis Advisors uses a system of multiple Portfolio Managers to manage Selected Special Shares. Under this approach, each fund is divided into segments to be managed by individual Portfolio Managers. The Portfolio Manager responsible for overseeing and allocating segments of the funds' assets to the other Portfolio Managers and four Portfolio Managers managing the largest portion of the fund's assets as of the latest calendar quarter-end prior to the date of this prospectus are listed below. Portfolio Managers decide how their respective segments will be invested. All investment decisions are made within the parameters established by the fund's investment objectives, strategies, and restrictions.

- Dwight Blazin has managed a segment of Selected Special Shares since December 2001, manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors, and also serves as research analyst for Davis Advisors. Mr. Blazin joined Davis Advisors in August 1997.
- Stephen Chen has managed a segment of Selected Special Shares since February 2003, manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors, and also serves as research analyst for Davis Advisors. Mr. Chen joined Davis Advisors in December 2002.
- Christopher Davis has served as the research adviser of Selected Special Shares since June 2001, and also manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors. Mr. Davis has served as an analyst and portfolio manager for Davis Advisors since 1989. Mr. Davis oversees the other Portfolio Managers of Selected Special Shares and allocates segments of the Fund to each of them to invest.
- Danton Goei has managed a segment of Selected Special Shares since December 2001, manages other equity funds advised by Davis Advisors, and also serves as research analyst for Davis Advisors. Mr. Goei joined Davis Advisors in November 1998.

SHAREHOLDER INFORMATION

Procedures and Shareholder Rights are Described by Current Prospectus and Other Disclosure Documents

For information concerning the procedures for interacting with Selected Funds, as well as for other information concerning the funds, shareholders should look to the current prospectus and Statement of Additional Information, rather than any previous versions of those documents. All previous versions have been superseded by the current prospectus and Statement of Additional Information.

How Your Shares Are Valued

Once you open your Selected Fund account, you may purchase or sell shares at the net asset value ("NAV") next determined after Selected Funds' transfer agent or other "qualified financial intermediary" (a financial institution which has entered into a contract with Davis Advisors or its affiliates to offer, sell, and redeem shares of the fund) receives your request to purchase or sell shares in "good order", including all documents which are required to constitute a legal purchase or sale of shares. If your purchase or sale order is received in good order prior to the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"), your transaction will be executed that day at that day's NAV. If your purchase or sale order is received in good order after the close of the NYSE, your transaction will be processed the next day at the next day's NAV.

Selected Funds calculate the NAV of each class of shares issued by the funds as of the close of trading on the NYSE, normally 4:00 p.m. Eastern time, on each day when the NYSE is open. The time as of which the NAV is calculated may change in case of an emergency if deemed appropriate by the funds' officers. The NAV of each class of shares is determined by taking the market value of the class of shares' total assets, subtracting the class of shares' liabilities, and then dividing the result (net assets) by the number of outstanding shares of the class of shares. Since the equity funds invest in securities that may trade in foreign markets on days other than when Selected Funds calculate their NAVs, the value of the funds' portfolio may change on days that shareholders will not be able to purchase or redeem shares in the funds.

If you have access to the Internet, you can also check the net asset value on the funds' website (www.selectedfunds.com).

Valuation of Portfolio Securities

Selected Funds value securities for which market quotations are readily available at current market value other than certain short-term securities which are valued at amortized cost. Securities listed on the NYSE (and other national exchanges) are valued at the last reported sales price on the day of valuation. Securities traded in the over-the-counter market (e.g. NASDAQ) and listed securities for which no sale was reported on that date are stated at the last quoted bid price. Securities traded on foreign exchanges are valued based upon the last sales price on the principal exchange on which the security is traded prior to the time when the funds' assets are valued. Securities (including restricted securities) for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at their fair value. Securities whose values have been materially affected by what the Adviser identifies as a significant event occurring before the funds' assets are valued but after the close of their respective exchanges will be fair valued.

In general, foreign securities are more likely to require a fair value determination than domestic securities because circumstances may arise between the close of the market on which the securities trade and the time as of which the fund values its portfolio securities, which may affect the value of such securities. Securities denominated in foreign currencies and traded in foreign markets will have their values converted into U.S. dollar equivalents at the prevailing exchange rates as computed by State Street Bank and Trust Company. Fluctuation in the values of foreign currencies in relation to the U.S. dollar may affect the net asset value of a fund's shares even if there has not been any change in the foreign currency prices of that fund's investments.

Securities of smaller companies are also generally more likely to require a fair value determination because they may be thinly traded and less liquid than traditional securities of larger companies.

To the extent that a fund's portfolio investments trade in markets on days when the fund is not open for business, the fund's NAV may vary on those days. In addition, trading in certain portfolio investments may not occur on days the fund is open for business because markets or exchanges other than the NYSE may be closed. If the exchange or market on which the fund's underlying investments are primarily traded closes early, the NAV may be calculated prior to its normal market calculation time. For example, the primary trading markets for a fund may close early on the day before certain holidays and the day after Thanksgiving.

Fixed income securities may be valued at prices supplied by Selected Funds' pricing agent based on broker or dealer supplied valuations or matrix pricing, a method of valuing securities by reference to the value of other securities with similar characteristics, such as rating, interest rate and maturity. Government, corporate, and asset-backed bonds and convertible securities, including high-yield or junk bonds, normally are valued on the basis of prices provided by independent pricing services. Prices provided by the pricing services may be determined without exclusive reliance on quoted prices, and may reflect appropriate factors such as institution-size trading in similar groups of securities, developments related to special securities, dividend rate, maturity and other market data. Prices received from pricing services are fair value prices. In addition, if the prices provided by the pricing service and independent quoted prices are unreliable, Selected Funds will fair value the security using the funds' fair value procedures.

Fair value is determined in good faith using consistently applied procedures under the supervision of the Board of Directors. Fair valuation is based on subjective factors and, as a result, the fair value price of a security may differ from the security's market price and may not be the price at which the security may be sold. Fair valuation could result in a different NAV than an NAV determined by using market quotes.

Selected Daily Government Fund typically values all of its securities at amortized cost. Normally, the share price of Selected Daily Government Fund does not fluctuate. However, if there are unusually rapid changes in interest rates that the Fund's Board of Directors believes will cause a material deviation between the amortized cost of the Fund's debt securities and the market value of those securities, the Board will consider taking temporary action to maintain a fixed price or to prevent material dilution or other unfavorable consequences to Fund shareholders. This temporary action could include withholding dividends, paying dividends out of surplus, realizing gains or losses, or using market valuation to calculate net asset value rather than amortized cost.

How The Funds Pay Earnings

There are two ways you can receive payments from the Selected Fund you invest in:

- Dividends. Dividends are distributions to shareholders of net investment income and short-term capital gains on investments.
- Capital Gains. Capital gains are profits received by a fund from the sale of securities held for the long term, which are then distributed to shareholders.

If you would like information about when a particular Selected Fund pays dividends and distributes capital gains, please call 1-800-243-1575. Unless you choose otherwise, the Selected Funds will automatically reinvest your dividends and capital gains in additional fund shares.

You can request to have your dividends and capital gains paid to you by check or deposited directly into your bank account. Dividends and capital gains of $50 or less will not be sent by check but will be reinvested in additional fund shares.

The Funds also offer a Dividend Diversification Program, which allows you to have your dividends and capital gains from one Selected Fund reinvested in shares of another Selected Fund.

You will receive a statement each year detailing the amount of all dividends and capital gains paid to you during the previous year. To ensure that these distributions are reported properly to the U.S. Treasury, you must certify on your Selected Funds Application Form or on IRS Form W-9 that your Taxpayer Identification Number is correct and you are not subject to backup withholding. If you are subject to backup withholding, or you did not certify your Taxpayer Identification Number, the IRS requires the Selected Funds to withhold a percentage of any dividends paid and redemption or exchange proceeds received.

How to Put Your Dividends and Capital Gains to Work

You can have all of your dividends and capital gains automatically invested in the same fund or the same share Class of any other Selected Fund. To be eligible for this Dividend Diversification Program, all accounts involved must be registered under the same name and same Class of shares and have a minimum initial value of $1,000 for Class S shares or $10,000 for Class D shares. Shares are purchased at the chosen fund's net asset value on the dividend payment date. You can make changes to your selection or withdraw from the program at any time. To participate in this program, fill out the cross-reinvest information in the appropriate section of the Application Form. If you wish to establish this program after your account has been opened, call for more information.

Dividends and Distributions

- Selected American Shares and Selected Special Shares ordinarily distribute their dividends and capital gains, if any, in December.
- Selected Daily Government Fund ordinarily distributes dividends monthly. Selected Daily Government Fund does not ordinarily distribute capital gains.

- When a dividend or capital gain is distributed, the net asset value per share is reduced by the amount of the payment. Selected Daily Government Fund's net asset value is not affected by dividend payments.
- You may elect to reinvest dividend and/or capital gain distributions to purchase additional shares of any Selected Fund, or you may elect to receive them in cash. Many shareholders do not elect to take capital gain distributions in cash because these distributions reduce principal value.
- If a dividend or capital gain distribution is for an amount less than $50, the Fund will not issue a check. Instead, the dividend or capital gain distribution will be automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Fund.
- If a dividend or capital gain distribution check remains uncashed for six months or is undeliverable by the United States Postal Service, the fund will reinvest the dividend or distribution in additional shares of the Fund promptly after making this determination; and future dividends and capital gains distributions will be automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Fund.

Federal Income Taxes

Taxes on Distributions

Distributions you receive from the funds may be subject to income tax and may also be subject to state or local taxes unless you are exempt from taxation.

For federal tax purposes, any taxable dividends and distributions of short-term capital gains are treated as ordinary income. The funds' distributions of net long-term capital gains are taxable to you as long-term capital gains. Any taxable distributions you receive from the funds will normally be taxable to you when made, regardless of whether you reinvest distributions or receive them in cash.

Selected Funds will send you a statement each year showing the tax status of your fund distributions.

Taxes on Transactions

Your redemptions, including exchanges, may result in a capital gain or loss for federal tax purposes. A capital gain or loss on your investment is the difference between the cost of your shares, and the price you receive when you sell them.

More information concerning federal taxes is available in the Statement of Additional Information. Davis Advisors recommends that you consult with a tax advisor about dividends and capital gains that you may receive from the Selected Funds.

Fees and Expenses of the Fund

Each fund must pay operating fees and expenses.

Management Fee

The management fee covers the normal expenses of managing the funds, including compensation, research costs, corporate overhead expenses and related expenses. The difference in the fee structure between the Classes is primarily the result of their separate arrangements for shareholder and distributions services and is not the result of any difference in the amounts charged by Davis Advisors for core investment advisory services. Accordingly, the core investment advisory expenses do not vary by Class. Different fees and expenses will affect performance.

12b-1 Fees

Selected Funds offer two Classes of shares. Class S shares have adopted Plans of Distribution, or “12b-1 Plans,” which provide revenue to help sell and distribute the shares. This revenue may be used to pay for the services of financial planners, mutual fund supermarkets, and other distribution activities. Class S shares pay up to 0.25% of their average annual net assets for these services and activities. Class D shares do not pay 12b-1 fees, and thus have a lower expense ratio, which will result in higher investment returns over time.

The Adviser is contractually committed to temporarily waive the 0.25% distribution fee paid by Selected Daily Government Fund’s Class S shares until December 31, 2010.

Other Expenses

Other expenses include miscellaneous fees from affiliated and outside service providers. These fees may include legal, audit and custodial fees, the costs of printing and mailing of reports and statements, automatic reinvestment of distributions and other conveniences, and payments to third parties that provide recordkeeping services or administrative services for investors in the funds.

Total Fund Operating Expenses

The total cost of operating a mutual fund is reflected in its expense ratio. A shareholder does not pay operating costs directly; instead, operating costs are deducted before the fund’s NAV is calculated and are expressed as a percentage of the fund’s average daily net assets. The effect of these fees is reflected in the performance results for that Class of shares. Investors should examine total operating expenses closely in the prospectus, especially when comparing one fund with another fund in the same investment category.

Fees Paid to Dealers and Other Financial Intermediaries

Broker-dealers and other financial intermediaries (“Qualifying dealers”) may charge Davis Distributors, LLC (the “Distributor”) or the Adviser substantial fees for selling Selected Funds’ shares and providing continuing support to shareholders. Qualifying dealers may charge: (i) distribution and service fees from the funds’ 12b-1 distribution plans; (ii) record-keeping fees from the funds for providing record-keeping services to investors who hold Selected Funds shares through dealer-controlled omnibus accounts; and (iii) other fees, described below, paid by Davis Advisors or the Distributor from their own resources.

Qualifying dealers may, as a condition to distributing shares of the Selected Funds, request that the Distributor, or the Adviser, pay or reimburse the Qualifying dealer for: (i) marketing support payments including business planning assistance, educating personnel about the Selected Funds, and shareholder financial planning needs, placement on the Qualifying dealer’s list of offered funds, and access to sales meetings, sales representatives and management representatives of the Qualifying dealer; and (ii) financial assistance charged to allow the Distributor to participate in and/or present at conferences or seminars, sales or training programs for invited registered representatives and other employees, client and investor events and other dealer-sponsored events. These additional fees are sometimes referred to as “revenue sharing” payments. A number of factors are considered in determining fees paid to Qualifying dealers, including the dealer’s sales and assets, and the quality of the dealer’s relationship with the Distributor. Fees are generally based on the value of shares of the fund held by the Qualifying dealer for its customers or based on sales of fund shares by the dealer, or a combination thereof. Davis Advisors may use its profits from the advisory fee it receives from the fund to pay some or all of these fees. Some Qualifying dealers may also choose to pay additional compensation to their registered representatives who sell the funds. Such payments may be associated with the status of a fund on a Qualifying dealer’s preferred list of funds or otherwise associated with the dealer’s marketing and other support activities. The foregoing arrangements may create an incentive for the Qualifying dealers, as well as their registered representatives, to sell the Selected Funds rather than other funds.

In 2009, the Distributor, or the Adviser, was charged additional fees by the Qualifying dealers listed below. The Distributor paid these fees from its own resources. These Qualifying dealers may provide the Selected Funds enhanced sales and marketing support and financial advisers employed by the Qualifying dealers may recommend the Selected Funds rather than other funds. Qualifying dealers may be added or deleted at any time.

Charles Schwab & Co., Inc.; Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC; Fidelity Investments Institutional Services Company, Inc.; ING Life Insurance and Annuity Company; Marshall & Ilsley Trust; Mercer HR Services, LLC; Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated; Morgan Stanley Smith Barney; Nationwide Financial Services, Inc.; Pershing, LLC; UBS Financial Services, Inc.; Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC; Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.

In addition, the Distributor may, from time to time, pay additional cash compensation or other promotional incentives to authorized dealers or agents who sell shares of the Selected Funds. In some instances, such cash compensation or other incentives may be offered only to certain dealers or agents who employ registered representatives who have sold or may sell significant amounts of shares of the Selected Funds during specified periods of time.

Although Selected Funds may use brokers who sell shares of the funds to execute portfolio transactions, the funds do not consider the sale of fund shares as a factor when selecting brokers to execute portfolio transactions.

Investors should consult their financial intermediaries regarding the details of payments they may receive in connection with the sale of fund shares.

Due Diligence Meetings. The Distributor routinely sponsors due diligence meetings for registered representatives during which they receive updates on various Selected Funds and are afforded the opportunity to speak with the Adviser's Portfolio Managers. Invitation to these meetings is not conditioned on selling a specific number of shares. Those who have shown an interest in Selected Funds, however, are more likely to be considered. To the extent permitted by their firm's policies and procedures, registered representatives' expenses in attending these meetings may be covered by the Distributor.

Seminars and Educational Meetings. The Distributor may defray certain expenses of Qualifying dealers incurred in connection with seminars and other educational efforts subject to the Distributor's policies and procedures governing payments for such seminars. The Distributor may share expenses with Qualifying dealers for costs incurred in conducting training and educational meetings about various aspects of the funds for the employees of Qualifying dealers. In addition, the Distributor may share expenses with Qualifying dealers for costs incurred in hosting client seminars at which the fund is discussed.

Recordkeeping Fees. Certain Qualifying dealers have chosen to maintain "omnibus accounts" with Selected Funds. In an omnibus account, the fund maintains a single account in the name of the Qualifying dealer and the dealer maintains all of its clients' individual shareholder accounts. Likewise, for many retirement plans, a third party administrator may open an omnibus account with the Selected Funds and the administrator will then maintain all of the participant accounts. Davis Advisors, on behalf of the funds, enters into agreements whereby the funds are charged by the Qualifying dealer or administrator for such recordkeeping services.

Recordkeeping services typically include: (i) establishing and maintaining shareholder accounts and records; (ii) recording shareholder account balances and changes thereto; (iii) arranging for the wiring of funds; (iv) providing statements to shareholders; (v) furnishing proxy materials, periodic Selected Funds reports, prospectuses and other communications to shareholders as required; (vi) transmitting shareholder transaction information; and (vii) providing information in order to assist Selected Funds in their compliance with state securities laws. Each Selected Fund typically would be paying these shareholder servicing fees directly if a Qualifying dealer did not hold all customer accounts in a single omnibus account with each Selected Fund.

Other Compensation. The Distributor may, from its own resources and not from the funds', pay additional fees to the extent not prohibited by state or federal laws, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), or any self-regulatory agency, such as the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).

HOW TO CHOOSE A SHARE CLASS

Before you buy shares in any Selected Fund, you need to decide which Class of shares best suits your needs. Selected Funds offers two Classes of shares: S and D. Each Class is essentially identical in legal rights and invests in the same portfolio of securities. The difference in the fee structure between the Classes is primarily the result of their separate arrangements for shareholder and distribution services and is not the result of any difference in the amounts charged by Davis Advisors for investment advisory services. Accordingly, the investment advisory expenses do not vary by Class.

Class S Shares

Class S shares may be appropriate if you intend to retain the services of a financial adviser, mutual fund supermarket, or other financial intermediary. Class S shares have adopted Plans of Distribution, or "12b-1 Plans," which provide revenue that may be used to pay for the services of financial planners, mutual fund supermarkets, and other distribution activities. Class S shares pay up to 0.25% of their average annual net assets for these services and activities. You must invest a minimum of $1,000 in a single Fund to open an account in Class S shares.

Class D Shares

Class D shares may be appropriate if you intend to make your own investment decisions and will invest directly with Selected Funds. Class D shares do not pay 12b-1 fees, and thus have a lower expense ratio, which will result in higher investment returns over time. You must invest a minimum of $10,000 in a single Fund to open an account in Class D shares. Class D shares may not be available for purchase through some financial intermediaries.

Converting from Class S to Class D shares

If your Class S shares account is held directly with the Selected Funds' distributor or with a financial intermediary that does not require 12b-1 fees to pay for its services, and if the current market value of your account in a single Fund is at least $10,000, you may elect to convert that account from Class S to Class D shares at relative net asset value. Because the net asset value per share of the Class D shares may be higher or lower than that of the Class S shares at the time of conversion, although the dollar value will be the same, a shareholder may receive more or less Class D shares than the number of Class S shares converted. A conversion from Class S to Class D shares of the same Fund is not a taxable transaction. You may convert from Class S to Class D shares by calling Investor Services at 1-800-243-1575, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.

If the market value of your Class D shares account declines to less than $10,000 due to a redemption or exchange, your Class D shares will be converted into Class S shares at relative net asset value. Although the dollar value will be the same, a shareholder may receive more or less Class S shares than the number of Class D shares converted. See "Involuntary Redemption or Conversion" in this prospectus.

If you have any additional questions about choosing a share class, please call Investor Services toll free at 1-800-243-1575, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time. If you still are not sure about which class is best for you, contact your financial adviser.

HOW TO OPEN AN ACCOUNT

To open an account with Selected Funds you must meet the initial minimum investment for each fund you choose to invest in. For each Class S share fund you must invest at least $1,000. For each Class D share fund you must invest at least $10,000.

At the Distributor's discretion, the minimum may be waived for an account established under a "wrap account" or other fee-based program that is sponsored and maintained by a registered broker-dealer approved by the Distributor.

Two Ways You Can Open an Account

- By Mail. Complete and sign the Application Form and mail it to the funds' service provider, State Street Bank and Trust Company. Include a check made payable to Selected Funds. All purchases by check should be in U.S. dollars. Selected Funds will not accept third-party checks, starter checks, traveler's checks or money orders.
- By Dealer. You may have your dealer order and pay for the shares. In this case, you must pay your dealer directly. Your dealer will then order the shares from the Distributor. Please note that your dealer may charge a service fee or commission for these transactions.

Anti-Money Laundering Compliance

Selected Funds and the Distributor are required to comply with various anti-money laundering laws and regulations and have appointed an anti-money laundering compliance officer. Consequently, the funds or the Distributor may request additional information from you to verify your identity and the source of your funds. If you do not provide the requested information, the Selected Funds may not be able to open your account. If at any time the funds believe an investor may be involved in suspicious activity or if certain account information matches information on government lists of suspicious persons, the fund and the Distributor may choose not to establish a new account or may be required to "freeze" a shareholder's account. They may also be required to provide a government agency or another financial institution with information about transactions that have occurred in a shareholder's account or to transfer monies received to establish a new account, transfer an existing account or transfer the proceeds of an existing account to a governmental agency. In some circumstances, the law may not permit the funds or the Distributor to inform the shareholder that it has taken the actions described above.

Retirement Plan Accounts

You can invest in Selected Funds using any of these types of retirement plan accounts:

- IRAs
- Roth IRAs
- Education Savings Accounts
- Simple IRAs
- Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRAs
- 403(b) Plans

State Street Bank and Trust Company acts as custodian for these retirement plans and charges each participant a $15 custodial fee each year per Social Security Number. This fee will be waived for accounts sharing the same Social Security Number if the accounts total at least $50,000 at Selected Funds. This custodial fee is automatically deducted from each account unless you elect to pay the fee directly. There is also a $15 fee for closing retirement plan accounts. To open a retirement plan account, you must fill out a special application form. You can request this form by calling Investor Services or by visiting the Selected Funds' website (www.selectedfunds.com).

BUYING, SELLING, AND EXCHANGING SHARES

Once you have established an account with Selected Funds, you can add to or withdraw from your investment. This prospectus describes the types of transactions you can perform as a Selected Funds shareholder including how to initiate these transactions and the charges that you may incur (if any) when buying, selling or exchanging shares. A transaction will not be executed until all required documents have been received in a form meeting all legal requirements. Legal requirements vary depending upon the type of transaction and the type of account. Call Investor Services for instructions. These procedures and charges may change over time and the prospectus in effect at the time a transaction is initiated will describe the procedures and charges which will apply to the transaction.

Right to Reject or Restrict any Purchase or Exchange Order

Purchases and exchanges (other than for Selected Daily Government Fund) should be made for long-term investment purposes only. Selected Funds and the Distributor reserve the right to reject or restrict any purchase or exchange order for any reason prior to the end of the first business day after the date that a purchase or exchange order was processed. Selected Funds are not designed to serve as a vehicle for frequent trading in response to short-term fluctuations in the securities markets. Accordingly, purchases or exchanges that are part of activity that Selected Funds or the Distributor have determined may involve actual or potential harm to a fund may be rejected.

Four Ways to Buy, Sell and Exchange Shares

- By Telephone. Call 1-800-243-1575. You can speak directly with an Investor Services Professional, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time or use the funds' automated telephone system at any time, day or night.
- By Online Account Access. You may initiate most account transactions through online account access on the funds' website, www.selectedfunds.com. Please note that certain account types may be restricted from online access.
- By Mail. Send the request to the funds' service provider, State Street Bank and Trust Company.

Canton, MA 02021-2809

- By Dealer. Contact a dealer who will execute the transaction through the Distributor. Please note that your dealer may charge service fees or commissions for these transactions.

The Selected Funds do not issue certificates for any class of shares. Instead, shares purchased are automatically credited to an account maintained for you on the books of the Selected Funds by State Street Bank and Trust Company. Transactions in the account, such as additional investments, will be reflected on regular confirmation statements from Selected Funds. Dividend and capital gain distributions, purchases through automatic investment plans and certain retirement plans, and automatic exchanges and withdrawals will be confirmed at least quarterly.

When Your Transactions Are Processed

Purchases, sales, and exchanges will be processed at 4 p.m. Eastern time after Selected Funds' transfer agent or other qualified financial intermediary receives your request to purchase or sell shares, including all documents which are required to constitute a legal purchase, sale or exchange of shares (See "Buying More Shares," "Selling Shares," and "Exchanging Shares" below).

Buying More Shares

You may buy more shares at any time, by mail, through a dealer or by wire. The minimum purchase amount is $25.

- By Mail. When you purchase shares by mail:
 - Make the check payable to Selected Funds.
 - If you have the investment slip from your most recent statement, include it with the check. If you do not have an investment slip, include a letter with your check stating the name of the fund, the class of shares you wish to buy, and your account number.
 - Mail the check to:
 - Regular mail:*

- Through a Dealer. When you buy shares through a dealer, you may be charged service fees or commissions for these transactions.
- By Telephone. If you have a bank account listed on your account you may purchase shares via ACH (Automated Clearing House) and the funds will be pulled directly from your bank account to purchase shares. Call 1-800-243-1575 to use the funds' automated phone system 24 hours a day or speak to an Investor Services Professional, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.
- By Internet. If you have a bank account listed on your account you may purchase shares via ACH (Automated Clearing House) and the funds will be pulled directly from your bank account to purchase shares. See "Internet Transactions" in this prospectus for details on how to access your account through the internet.

- By Wire. You may wire federal funds directly to the funds' service provider, State Street Bank and Trust Company. To ensure that the purchase is credited properly, follow these wire instructions:

State Street Bank and Trust Company

Making Automatic Investments

An easy way to increase your investment in any Selected Fund is to sign up for the Automatic Investment Plan. Under this plan, you arrange for a predetermined amount of money to be withdrawn from your bank account and invested in fund shares. The minimum amount you can invest under the plan each month is $25. The account minimum of $1,000 for Class S shares or $10,000 for Class D shares must be met prior to establishing an automatic investment plan.

Purchases can be processed electronically on any day of the month if the institution that services your bank account is a member of the Automated Clearing House (ACH) system. Each debit should be reflected on your next bank statement.

To sign up for the Automatic Investment Plan, complete the appropriate section of the Application Form or complete an Account Service Form. You can modify your Automatic Investment Plan at any time by calling Investor Services.

Selling Shares

You may sell back all or part of your shares in any Selected Fund in which you invest (also known as redeeming your shares) on any day that the fund is open at net asset value minus any sales charges that may be due. You can sell the shares by telephone, by internet, by mail or through a dealer. The minimum redemption amount is $50, unless your account is less than $50; in which case you must redeem the entire account.

You may sell shares in any of the following ways:

- By Mail. To sell shares by mail, send the request to one of the addresses below. All registered shareholders must sign the request. Redemption proceeds are usually paid to you by check within seven days after State Street Bank and Trust Company receives your proper redemption request.

Mail the request to:

- A medallion signature guarantee is required if the redemption request is:
 - for a check greater than $100,000;
 - made payable to someone other than the registered shareholder(s);
 - sent to an address other than to the address of record or to an address of record that has been changed in the last 30 days; or
 - to a bank account not on record.
- Through a Dealer. When you sell shares through a dealer, you may be charged service fees or commissions for these transactions.
- By Telephone. Call 1-800-243-1575 to use the funds' automated phone system 24 hours a day or speak with an Investor Services Professional, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.
 - Redemptions by check:
 - are limited to $100,000;
 - must be mailed to the address of record that has been on the account for at least 30 days; and
 - must be made payable to the registered shareholder.
 - Redemptions via wire or ACH can only be done to a bank currently on the account.
- By Internet. See "Internet Transactions" in this prospectus for details on how to access your account through the internet.
 - Redemptions by check:
 - limited to $100,000;
 - must be mailed to the address of record that has been on the account for at least 30 days; and
 - made payable to the registered shareholder.
 - Redemptions via wire or ACH can only be done to a bank currently on the account.

You may redeem shares on any day that the fund is open. Redemption proceeds may be withheld until a sufficient period of time has passed for State Street Bank and Trust Company to be reasonably sure that all checks or drafts (including certified or cashier's checks) for shares purchased have cleared, normally not exceeding fifteen calendar days.

Check Writing Privilege for Selected Daily Government Fund

You can request check writing privileges on your Selected Daily Government Fund (in either Class S or Class D shares) account if you are not investing through a retirement plan or an IRA. Selected Daily Government Fund investors with check writing privileges can write checks:

- For $250 or more for Class S shares or $1,000 or more for Class D shares. Checks written for less than these amounts will be honored and a $25 service fee will be debited from the account;
- So long as the account balance is at least $1,000 for Class S shares, or $10,000 for Class D shares, after the check has been paid. If a check is presented for payment which would bring the account balance to less than $1,000 for Class S shares, or $10,000 for Class D shares, a $25 service fee will be debited from the account and check writing privileges will be suspended; and
- Subject to the rules prescribed by State Street Bank and Trust Company. The Funds and State Street Bank and Trust Company reserve the right to modify these rules at any time.

Writing a check is a way of selling shares and directing the proceeds to a third party. When a Selected Daily Government Fund check is presented to State Street Bank and Trust Company for payment, the bank will redeem a sufficient number of shares in your account to cover the amount of the check. If you have had recent activity in your Selected Daily Government Fund account, funds may not be available to cover your checks. For example: (1) if you have redeemed or exchanged funds out of your Selected Daily Government Fund account, there may not be sufficient funds remaining to cover your check; (2) if you have recently purchased shares in your Selected Daily Government Fund account, the funds may still be within the fifteen-day uncollected status; or (3) if funds were exchanged into your Selected Daily Government Fund account from another Selected Fund, those funds may still be within the fifteen-day uncollected status.

To qualify for Check Writing Privileges, fill out the appropriate section in your Application Form. If you write a check on your Selected Daily Government Fund account and you do not have sufficient shares in your account to cover the check, or if your check is presented for payment before your purchase check has cleared, the check will be returned and your account will be assessed an insufficient funds fee of $25. You can find more information about check writing privileges in the Statement of Additional Information. Selected Funds and State Street Bank and Trust Company reserve the right to modify or terminate the check writing service at any time.

What You Need to Know Before You Sell Your Shares

- You will always receive cash for sales that total less than $250,000 or one percent of a fund's net asset value during any ninety-day period. Any sales above the cash limit may be paid in securities and would mean you would have to pay brokerage fees if you sold the securities.
- In certain circumstances, such as death of a shareholder or acting as power of attorney, additional documentation may be required. Please contact Investor Services at 1-800-243-1575 to determine if your situation requires such documentation.
- In the past, the Selected Funds issued certificates for its shares. If a certificate was issued for the shares you wish to sell, the certificate must be sent by certified mail to State Street Bank and Trust Company and accompanied by a letter of instruction signed by the owner(s).
- A sale may produce a gain or loss. Gains may be subject to tax.
- The Securities and Exchange Commission may suspend redemption of shares under certain emergency circumstances if the New York Stock Exchange is closed for reasons other than customary closings and holidays.

Medallion Signature Guarantee

To protect you and the Selected Funds against fraud, certain redemption requests must be made in writing with your signature guaranteed. A medallion signature guarantee is a written endorsement from an eligible guarantor institution that the signature(s) on the written request is (are) valid. Certain commercial banks, trust companies, savings associations, credit unions and members of a United States stock exchange participate in the medallion signature guarantee program. No other form of signature verification will be accepted.

Stock Power

This is a letter of instruction signed by the owner of fund shares that gives State Street Bank and Trust Company permission to transfer ownership of the shares to another person or group. Any transfer of ownership requires that all shareholders have their signatures medallion-guaranteed.

Involuntary Redemption or Conversion

If your Class S share fund/account balance declines to less than $1,000 in any fund as a result of a redemption, exchange or transfer, the fund will redeem your remaining shares in the fund at net asset value. You will be notified before your account is involuntarily redeemed. Telephone redemptions will receive immediate notice that the redemption will result in the entire account being redeemed upon execution of the transaction. All other redemptions will receive a letter notifying account holders that their accounts will be involuntarily redeemed unless the account balance is increased to at least $1,000 within 30 days.

If your Class D share fund/account balance declines to less than $10,000 as a result of a redemption, exchange or transfer, the fund will convert your remaining shares to Class S at relative net asset value. You will be notified before your account is involuntarily converted. Telephone redemptions will receive immediate notice that the redemption will result in the entire account being converted upon execution of the transaction. All other redemptions will receive a letter notifying account holders that their accounts will be involuntarily converted unless the account balance is increased to at least $10,000 within 30 days.

Making Systematic Withdrawals

If your fund/account balance is more than $10,000, you can sell a predetermined dollar or percentage amount each month or quarter (for retirement accounts or IRAs, withdrawals may be established on an annual basis). Because withdrawals are sales, they may produce a gain or loss. If you purchase additional fund shares at around the same time that you make a withdrawal, you may have to pay taxes. When you participate in this plan, known as the Systematic Withdrawal Plan, shares are sold so that you will receive payment by one of three methods:

- You may receive a check at the address of record provided that this address has not changed for a period of at least 30 days.
- You may also choose to receive funds by ACH by completing an account service form. If you wish to execute a Systematic Withdrawal Plan by ACH after your account has been established, please complete an account service form and have your signature medallion guaranteed.
- You may have funds sent by check to a third party at an address other than the address of record. In order to do so, you must complete the appropriate section of the Application Form. If you wish to designate a third-party payee after your account has been established, you must submit a letter of instruction with a medallion signature guarantee.

You may stop systematic withdrawals at any time without charge or penalty by calling Investor Services.

Wiring Sale Proceeds to Your Bank Account

You may be eligible to have your redemption proceeds electronically transferred to a commercial bank account by federal funds wire. There is a $5 charge by State Street Bank and Trust Company for wire service and receiving banks may also charge for this service. Proceeds of redemption by federal funds wire are usually credited to your bank account on the next business day after the sale. Alternatively, redemption through ACH will usually arrive at your bank two banking days after the sale. To have redemption proceeds sent by federal funds wire to your bank, you must first fill out the Banking Instructions section on the account application form and attach a voided check or deposit slip. If the account has already been established, an Account Service Form must be submitted with a medallion guarantee and a voided check.

Exchanging Shares

You can sell shares of any Selected Fund to buy shares in the same class of any other Selected Fund. This is known as an exchange. You can only exchange shares from your account within the same class and under the same registration. You can exchange shares by telephone, by internet, by mail or through a dealer. For Class S shares the initial exchange must be for at least $1,000. For Class D shares the initial exchange must be for at least $10,000. Exchanges are normally performed on the same day of the request if received in proper form (all necessary documents, signatures, etc.) by 4 p.m. Eastern time.

You may exchange shares in any of the following ways:

- By Mail. To exchange shares by mail, send the request to one of the addresses below. All registered shareholders must sign the request. Mail the request to:

Via U.S. Postal Service
Selected Funds
c/o State Street Bank and Trust Company
PO Box 8243
Boston, MA 02266-8243

Via Overnight Mail
Selected Funds
c/o State Street Bank and Trust Company
30 Dan Rd
Canton, MA 02021-2809

- Through a Dealer. When you exchange shares through a dealer, you may be charged service fees or commissions for these transactions.
- By Telephone. Call 1-800-243-1575 to use the funds' automated phone system 24 hours a day or speak to a customer service representative Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.
- By Internet. See "Internet Transactions" in this prospectus for details on how to access your account through the internet.

In the past, the Selected Funds issued certificates. If you wish to exchange shares for which you hold share certificates, these certificates must be sent by certified mail to State Street Bank and Trust Company accompanied by a letter of instruction signed by the owner(s). If your shares are being sold for cash, this is known as a redemption. Please see "What You Need to Know Before You Sell Your Shares" in this prospectus for restrictions that might apply to this type of transaction.

Before you decide to make an exchange, you must obtain the current prospectus of the desired Selected Fund. For federal income tax purposes, exchanges between Selected Funds are treated as a sale and a purchase. Therefore, there will usually be a recognizable capital gain or loss due to an exchange.

Frequent Purchases and Redemptions of Fund Shares

The Selected Funds discourage short-term or excessive trading, do not accommodate short-term or excessive trading, and intend to restrict or reject such trading or take other action if, in the judgment of Davis Advisors, such trading may be detrimental to the interest of a fund. Such strategies may dilute the value of fund shares held by long-term shareholders, interfere with the efficient management of the fund's portfolio, and increase brokerage and administrative costs.

The Selected Funds' Board of Directors has adopted a 30 day restriction policy with respect to the frequent purchase and redemption of fund shares. Under the 30 day restriction any shareholder redeeming shares from a fund will be precluded from investing in the same fund for 30 calendar days after the redemption transaction. This policy also applies to redemptions and purchases that are part of an exchange transaction. Check writing redemptions from the money market fund are excluded from this restriction, as are transactions that are part of a systematic plan. Certain financial intermediaries, such as 401(k) plan administrators, may apply purchase and exchange limitations which are different than the limitations discussed above. These limitations may be more or less restrictive than the limitations imposed by the Selected Funds, but are designed to detect and prevent excessive trading. Shareholders should consult their financial intermediaries to determine what purchase and exchange limitations may be applicable to their transactions in the Selected Funds through those financial intermediaries. To the extent reasonably feasible, the Funds' market timing procedures apply to all shareholder accounts and neither Selected Funds nor Davis Advisors have entered into agreements to exempt any shareholder from application of either the Selected Funds' or a financial intermediary's market-timing procedures, as applicable.

Selected Funds receive purchase, exchange and redemption orders from many financial intermediaries which maintain omnibus accounts with the Funds. Omnibus account arrangements permit financial intermediaries to aggregate their clients' transactions and ownership positions. Shareholders seeking to engage in excessive trading practices may employ a variety of strategies to avoid detection and there can be no assurance that Selected Funds will successfully prevent all instances of market timing.

If the Selected Funds, at its discretion, identifies any activity that may constitute frequent trading, it reserves the right to restrict further trading activity regardless of whether the activity exceeds the funds written guidelines. In applying this policy, the Selected Funds reserves the right to consider the trading of multiple accounts under common ownership, control or influence to be trading out of a single account.

Making Automatic Exchanges

You can elect to make automatic monthly exchanges if all accounts involved are registered under the same name and have a minimum initial value of $1,000 for Class S shares or $10,000 for Class D shares. You must exchange at least $25 for Class S shares or $100 for Class D shares to participate in this program, known as the Automatic Exchange Program. To sign up for this program you may contact Investor Services.

Telephone Transactions

A benefit of investing through Selected Funds is that you can use the funds' automated telephone system to buy, sell or exchange shares. If you do not wish to have this option activated for your account, complete the appropriate section of the Application Form.

When you call Selected Funds you can perform a transaction in one of two ways:

- Speak directly with an Investor Services Professional Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.
- You can use Selected Funds' automated telephone system, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

When you buy, sell or exchange shares by telephone instruction, you agree that the Selected Funds are not liable for following telephone instructions believed to be genuine (that is, directed by the account holder, registered representative or authorized trader, whose name is on file). The funds use certain procedures to confirm that your instructions are genuine, including a request for personal identification and a tape recording of the conversation. If these procedures are not used, the fund may be liable for any loss from unauthorized instructions.

Be aware that during unusual market conditions Selected Funds may not be able to accept all requests by telephone.

Internet Transactions

You can use the funds' website — www.selectedfunds.com — to review your account balance and recent transactions. Your account may qualify for the privilege to purchase, sell or exchange shares online. You may also request confirmation statements and tax summary information to be mailed to the address on file. Please review the funds' website for more complete information. If you do not wish to have this option activated for your account, please contact an Investor Services Professional at 1-800-243-1575, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Eastern time.

To access your accounts, you will need the name of the fund(s) in which you are invested, your account number and your Social Security Number.

You must also establish a unique and confidential Personal Identification Number (PIN). This PIN is required each time you access your Selected account online.

When you buy, sell or exchange shares over the Internet, you agree that the Selected Funds are not liable for following instructions believed to be genuine (that is, directed by the account holder or registered representative on file). The funds use certain procedures to confirm that your instructions are genuine. If these procedures are not used, the funds may be liable for any loss from unauthorized instructions.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

These tables are designed to show you the financial performance of each of the Funds in this prospectus for the past five years, assuming that all dividends and capital gains have been reinvested. Some of the information reflects financial results for a single fund share. The total returns represent the rate at which an investor would have earned (or lost) money on an investment in the fund.

This information has been audited by KPMG LLP, the Funds' independent registered public accounting firm. KPMG LLP's report, along with the funds' financial statements, is included in the Annual Report, which is available upon request.
